Shared Sports Facilities

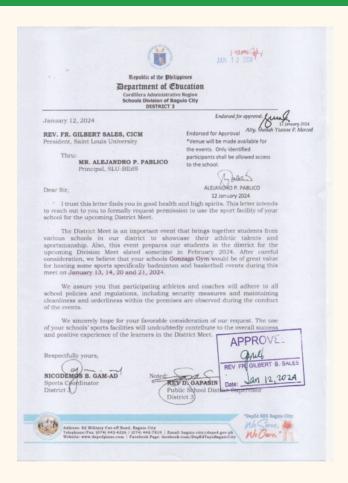

AND WELL-BEING

One of the goals of Saint Louis University (SLU) is to strengthen its commitment to society through the services it provides to its stakeholders. SLU actively engages external partners, utilizing its facilities and expertise to address community needs. In recent years, the university has opened its doors to local government agencies, assisting them in planning, initiating, and implementing strategies that benefit the general population. One of the most important activities held in one of the SLU Sports facilities was the District Meet of the Department of Education.

In addition to its support for government initiatives, SLU has also welcomed alumni back to campus for events such as the alumni sports fest, reinforcing its commitment to community engagement. By offering its sports facilities for these gatherings, SLU fosters physical activity and strengthens the bonds within its alumni network. Through these initiatives, Saint Louis University exemplifies its dedication to social involvement and significantly contributes to the city's recovery and wellbeing.

Department of Education - Schools Division of Baguio District Meet

Saint Louis University (SLU) proudly opened the doors of its Gonzaga Gym for the District Meet sponsored by the Department of Education - Cordillera Administrative Region - District 3 office, featuring exciting competitions in badminton and basketball. This two-weekend event not only showcased local athletic talent but also highlighted SLU's commitment to promoting health and well-being in line with the United Nations Sustainable Development Goal 3 (SDG 3).

SLU's decision to provide the venue for the District Meet reflects its dedication to making sports facilities accessible to the public. By providing a platform for young athletes to showcase their skills, SLU encourages physical activity and promotes a healthy lifestyle among the youth—key elements of SDG 3.
